November 4, 11, 18, 2019

6:00 PM - 9:00 PM

4819 South 71 Street, Lincoln, Nebraska

Register early as registration is limited to 10.

This training is for parents and tutors wanting to homeschool, assist or tutor a reader who is dyslexic or experiencing reading, writing, and spelling difficulties.

In this class you will learn to screen, progress monitor, assess and teach using proven techniques based on the Orton-Gillingham structured, systematic, sequential, and multisensory instructional methods. The course demonstrates how to build phonological awareness (hearing sounds), decoding (sounding out words), encoding (spelling), fluency (reading smoothly at an appropriate pace), vocabulary (how to learn new words) and comprehension (understanding what is read).

Instructor: Sandy Stark is an educator with a Master's Degree from Doane University. She has 36 years of elementary teaching experience. As the title 1 reading teacher at Syracuse Public Schools, she has incorporated a multisensory approach into the reading curriculum. She has taught and is certified in A-Z Phonics/Project Read, VoWac and Comprehensive Multisensory Reading. Sandy serves on the Board of the Nebraska Dyslexia Association.

Fees: $185 tuition plus $75 for materials. Registration is due September 6, 2019. Register early as registration is limited to 10.

To register: Send the registration form to Sandy Stark along with the nonrefundable $75.00 (cash or check only) materials fee by September 3, 2019. The $185.00 fee is due the first day of class. For more information contact Sandy:
